Raine Wood
9-6-22
Mart120

GUI, Graphical user interface, I'm assuming that this is about the github interfaces. I am a little confused on how to deal with the desktop form of github, it doesn't have a simple way to create a file. I don't know how to use the commit or any of the other steps for our first week in it. So I will probably use the website version until we get deeper into it. The web version is actually really nice for the most part other than it being a new program to learn, it is awfully easy to place files and to get info on it.